

2014-2015 Corruption Statistics

The majority of the work of the investigators during this last reporting period has been on long term protracted investigations which have been complex and time consuming, as evidenced by the high number of interviews conducted.

Whilst no persons were convicted in the last year, two persons were charged and an additional person is still awaiting trial. In two of the active cases the defendants are awaiting their appeal hearings.